

THE NEED FOR
NUTRITION EDUCATION PROGRAMME

DIPARTIMENTO DI MEDICINA CLINICA E SPERIMENTALE

DIPARTIMENTO DI SCIENZE DEGLI ALIMENTI

Capacity Building in Nutrition: The Future of the Academic Workforce

Nutrition is important to health and wellbeing as well as disease prevention and management. The public look up to health professionals for sound and safe nutritional advice, however, they often have variable training.

Dr Sumantra Ray, RNutr. (Public Health) and Celia Laur, RNutr. (Public Health) from the UK Need for Nutrition Education Programme will be discussing the need for nutrition education among healthcare professionals as well as the importance of developing an applied nutrition workforce.

Tuesday, November 5, 2013

AULA MAGNA (Strada Dell'Università, 12)

Time: 15.00 -16.00

The Need for Nutrition Education Programme works in partnership with the following organisations:

Cambridge University Hospitals NHS
NHS Foundation Trust

School of Clinical Medicine

