TurKey Enabling Technologies 2012 - The International Brokerage Event in Biotechnology, Advanced Materials, Space, Manufacturing and Processing Technologies

25 May 2012, Ceylan InterContinental Hotel, Istanbul, Turkey

IMPORTANT: the partnering system is now closed. You may view and print your schedule online and message other delegates.

As an R&D professional, you know the value of collaboration and sharing ideas. To obtain funding, European Commission Seventh Framework Programme (FP7) projects require complementary cross-disciplinary capabilities to achieve breakthroughs that cannot be delivered by a single research group.

The 2012 TurKey Enabling Technologies Brokerage event will bring together 300 researchers and organisations involved in Biotechnology, Advanced Materials, Advanced Manufacturing & Processing, Space Technologies, with the desire and capability to help overcome a wide range of challenges.

As well as networking opportunities, you'll hear presentations by the European Commission Officials and FP7 experts on forthcoming proposals. Researchers from across Europe will be presenting their concepts for future proposals and experienced FP7 applicants will be sharing tips on how to develop successful proposals.

Anyone can present ideas for projects and discuss them with potential partners, give feedback and support and supplement each other's ideas.

If you are a researcher in any of these sectors with novel concepts and capabilities which can have significant societal, environmental and economic impact you could be eligible for funding. For more information on funding availability and the criteria please email: events@turkeyinfp7.eu.

Benefit from:

- Exploring collaborative and funding opportunities
- Leveraging know-how from European Commission officials
- Learning from Framework Programme experts
- Exchanging best practice with other research participants
- Discovering how to get involved with Framework Programmes, building consortia and planning teams for your research proposals
- Taking part in one-to-one partnering meetings
- Showcasing your project
