TITOLO PROGRAMMA DI RICERCA / TITLE OF RESEARCH PROGRAM
(ITA) Studio dei meccanismi neurali che modulano il comportamento umano durante le interazioni sociali reali (ENG) Investigating neural mechanisms that modulate human behavior during real social interactions
DESCRIZIONE DEL PROGRAMMA DI RICERCA / DESCRIPTION OF THE RESEARCH PROGRAM
(ITA) Durante le interazioni sociali, osservare le azioni degli altri ci permette di inferire i loro atteggiamenti e stati affettivi. Gli esseri umani compiono naturalmente azioni con diverse forme di vitalità, ad esempio in maniera gentile, entusiasta, infastidita o sgarbata, le quali riflettono il loro stato affettivo interno. Il modo in cui qualcuno ci saluta, ad esempio, può rivelare se è felice, non si sente bene o si sente a disagio nel vederci. Comprendere i meccanismi neurofisiologici alla base dell'espressione e della comprensione di questi aspetti comunicativi dell'azione rappresenta un reale progresso nella conoscenza del comportamento sociale. Tale comprensione getta inoltre le fondamenta per studi futuri su patologie caratterizzate da disturbi sociali e comunicativi. Questo progetto ha tre obiettivi principali: 1. Sviluppare e testare nuovi paradigmi sperimentali per indagare diverse forme di azione eseguite in contesti sociali e situazioni reali. 2. Analizzare le caratteristiche cinematiche e i parametri fisiologici delle azioni compiute in differenti contesti sociali. 3. Esaminare l'attività neurale associata all'osservazione e all'esecuzione di azioni sociali espresse in contesti reali e interattivi. (ENG) During social interactions, observing the actions of others allows us to infer their attitudes and affective states. Humans naturally perform actions with different forms of vitality, for example, in a gentle, enthusiastic, annoyed, or rude manner, which reflect their internal affective state. The way someone greets us, for instance, can reveal whether they are happy, unwell, or uncomfortable seeing us. Understanding the neurophysiological mechanisms underlying the expression and comprehension of these communicative aspects of action represents a significant advance in our knowledge of social behavior. This understanding also lays the groundwork for future studies on pathologies characterized by social and communicative disorders. This project has three main objectives:

1. Develop and test new experimental paradigms to investigate different forms of action performed in social and real-life contexts.
2. Analyze the kinematic characteristics and associated physiological parameters of actions performed across different social contexts.
3. Examine the neural activity associated with the observation and execution of social actions performed in real and interactive contexts.

The acts of the selection procedure are approved by Rector's Decree, published on the online Register, on the website of the University of Parma in the section dedicated to the procedure, which can be reached by linking to the following address: <https://www.unipr.it/bandi-di-concorso-contratti-di-ricerca>, who will declare the winner under a condition precedent of the verification of the requirements for admission to employment.

The deadline for any appeals runs from the day of publication of this notice.

The merit ranking remains in force for 12 (twelve) months, starting from the date of approval of the acts, without prejudice to compliance with all the requirements for activating the research contract. No declarations of eligibility for selection will be made.

The research contract may be awarded to a further candidate who has been found to be suitable, according to the order of the respective ranking, in the following cases:

- renunciation of the employment formalized by the winner;
- forfeiture of the winner's right to employment due to non-acceptance within the deadline set by the University or for other reasons provided for by law;
- failure to take up service of the winner;
- early termination of the individual contract concluded with the winner.

- ART. 8 -

ESTABLISHMENT OF THE EMPLOYMENT RELATIONSHIP and ASSUMPTION OF SERVICE

The Research Contract is conferred through the stipulation of an individual fixed-term employment contract, lasting two years, containing the rights and duties of the parties, to be signed within the term set by the Administration. The location of the activity is the University of Parma, at the Department that proposed the activation of the contract.

The successful PhD student will be able to enter into the contract only after obtaining the title of PhD. If the doctoral student or postgraduate student does not obtain the degree within the deadlines, as indicated in art. 2 of this call, he or she forfeits the right to be awarded the research contract. In the case of a foreign qualification, recruitment will take place only after recognition of the same in Italy, according to the procedure provided for by current legislation.

The Administration, at the time of signing the contract, invites the interested party to submit the documentation required pursuant to current legislation. Failure to deliver or incomplete delivery or failure to regularise it, within the prescribed period, will result in the forfeiture of the right to employment.

The non-EU citizen, in order to take up service, must be in possession of a valid residence permit for work purposes in Italy.

Recruitment is expected to coincide with the date of signing of the contract. Under no circumstances can a fixed-term employment relationship automatically be converted into an open-ended employment relationship.

- ART. 9 -

EMPLOYMENT RELATIONSHIP

The contractor will carry out exclusively the scientific research activities envisaged by the contract, as part of the research programme, at the indicated location and articulating his or her activity, in agreement with the Research Manager.

Disciplinary competence is regulated by Article 7 of Law no. 300 of 1970. The procedure and sanctions are the responsibility of the Rector.

The performance of assignments outside the University may be authorized by the Director of the Department, after consulting the Head of Research, in order to ensure the compatibility of the performance of the activities and after assessing the absence of conflicts of interest.

The ownership of contracts does not give any right to access university roles.

The contractor is subject to the health checks provided for by Legislative Decree 81/2008 at the expense of the University and to the legislation on safety in the workplace.

- ART. 10 -
