

E U R O P E A N A L L I A N C E

Wednesday, January 28, 3 pm CET
Online workshop

SUSTAINABILITY BEYOND THE HUMANS:
ENGAGING WITH NON-HUMAN (OR OTHER-THAN-HUMAN) BEINGS

FIRST SESSION (3:00-4:45)

Maria Ilhéu and Mariana Valente (University of Évora)

Learning to notice and love a multispecies world

Carsten Kullmann (University of Magdeburg)

Flocking together: sheep husbandry as a driver for settler colonialism in Oceania

Osman Arrobbio (University of Parma)

What to do with a lost sheep? Ignorance, care, and the surprise of meeting another living being

Joana Abranches Portela (University of Évora)

To be or not too bee? – Invisibilities of human-bee engagements in Alentejo narratives

Sofia Salema and Pedro Guilherme (University of Évora)

Architecture as a Situated Practice of Sustainability

DISCUSSION

SECOND SESSION (5:00-6:45)

Cristina Brito (NOVA FCSH, Lisbon)

Is there a mermaid in the tub? Extraction, representation and conservation of sirenians across time and geography

Therese Hume (Atlantic Technological University)

Revisiting Bateson: technology, learning and the more than human world

Matteo Cattaneo (University of Gävle)

Between Ingold and Freire: for an ethic of attentiveness in a community of inquiry practice

Simona Bertolini (University of Parma)

Engaging with non-human beings from a sustainable perspective. Philosophical implications

Jorge Croce Rivera (University of Évora)

On feral: contemporary considerations on the wild region in life-histories

DISCUSSION

Join via Teams using the link below or the QR code
<https://tinyurl.com/m2m6533z>

For further information, please contact: simona.bertolini@unipr.it